It is my pleasure to recommend Chris Turner, Chief Operating Officer of First National Bank & Trust Co. for the Oklahoma Bankers 2022 Hall of Fame.

I am Lori Elms, SVP, Director of Retail Operations for First National Bank & Trust Co. I have had the honor and privilege of being mentored by Chris for the past 12 years.

During our time together, Chris has acted previously as The First State Banks CFO and his current position as COO for First National Bank & Trust. In that time Chris has displayed great talents in leadership, community service, managing corporate culture and employee development.

Rarely does one get the opportunity to work alongside someone as knowledgeable, charismatic and fair as Chris Turner. He challenges the staff to be better, taking the time out to teach us more about this industry than we ever could have expected. Chris is a champion for growth and an advocate for work/life balance and a company culture built around inclusion, collaboration and positivity. He uses his experience with the Federal Reserve Board, Integris Hospital and a long list of other organizations to implement new ideas into the banking industry. I have had many great lessons over the years, moments where Chris has challenged me to be a better manager and a better banker. The moments I am most fond of are the laughter, talking about raising children and listening to his career experiences.

It's not just his technical skills that impress me, however. Chris is a joy to work with because of his positive attitude and drive to move our organization forward. His determination and grit are necessary and valued not just by myself, but by our organization as a whole.

I am absolutely confident that Chris Turner would be a great fit for the Oklahoma Bankers 2022 Hall of Fame based on his 30+ years of experience in banking and the experience he brings from his outside board positions and philanthropy. Chris has demonstrated admirable community responsibility and strives to make the OKC metro area a great place to live for residents and businesses.

Sincerely,
