Leadership Strategy Sessions

Economic Outlook

*Steve Wyatt,
Bank of Oklahoma, Tulsa*

What is driving monetary policy decisions now? Inflation is continuing to moderate bringing the Fed's mandate on full employment into greater focus.

The post-pandemic economy has been incredibly resilient. A snapshot of the economy today looks pretty good, but how much airbrushing is it taking to make the economy look good and is this airbrushing sustainable?

FHLB- Post Election

*Drew Simmons,
FHLBank, Topeka*

Prior to the results of the Presidential Election last November, there was a great deal of uncertainty on how the new administration would impact the Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) System. This session will review some of the recent changes that have been made to the FHLB System over the last 4 years under the Biden administration and what future changes might unfold under the new Trump administration. The session will also look back at recent funding and bank performance trends for Oklahoma banks, economic considerations and an outlook on the future for Oklahoma Bankers.

A Winning Strategy: Using Technology to Help Your Bank Win

Robert Mendez, BankOnIT USA, Oklahoma City

Artificial Intelligence, Fintech, Apps, and more are creating an ever-expanding selection of technology banks can choose from for a chance to enhance their success. However, many of these choices also come with risks that are not clearly understood. Hear about some of the wins, and fails, banks have had with technology and how you can increase your banks opportunity for a winning technology strategy.

Wire and Check Fraud: Recent Cases and Best Practices

*Joel Harmon and Zane Anderson
Crowe & Dunlevy, Oklahoma City*

Creative criminals are causing an increase in both wire and check fraud. This session will address key recent cases along with best practices to help prevent losses.

Strategic Planning for Community Banks

*Miles Pringle
The Bankers Bank, Oklahoma City*

Every organization is only as good as the people that work for it. This presentation will discuss current staffing challenges and offer solutions to address them. We will think strategically about how to address some of the banks' biggest challenges. Topics discussed will include:

- i) succession of leadership and key positions;
- ii) improving/maintaining employee moral;
- iii) how to get the best out of every generation in the workplace;
- iv) measuring success

Examiner Hot Spots and Regulatory Concerns

*Lori Jackson, Director,
Forvis Mazars, Oklahoma City*

It has been said that the only constant is change. That is certainly true when it comes to consumer compliance and regulatory concerns. Are the tides changing? What will be the hot topics and regulatory concerns for bank regulators under the new administration? In this session, we will discuss those questions and provide guidance as to where banks should consider focusing their compliance resources.

New FDIC Third-Party Risk Management Guide: A Deep Dive

*Brendtly Lauck
Eide Bailly, Des Moines*

As the financial landscape increasingly relies on third-party providers, effective third-party risk management (TPRM) is essential. The FDIC's new Third-Party Risk Management Guide for Community Banks introduces new expectations for financial institutions.

This presentation will offer a comprehensive overview of the FDIC guidance, providing actionable steps to help establish your bank's TPRM program.

2025 Community Banking Outlook

*Chet Fenimore
Fenimore Kay Harrison, Austin*

The landscape in which community banks operate seems to be ever changing. This presentation will provide a recap of the major events that have occurred in the banking market in the previous year and an update on the legal, regulatory, strategic and corporate/risk governance that the bank executives and directors should know in setting the strategic direction of the bank. The regulatory update will include a summary of major Supreme Court cases, CFPB rulemaking, including the implementation of Section 1071, and regulatory enforcement actions.
